ELLS MSc student Competition Plant Health Grand Challenges

Are you an MSc student at an ELLS university interested in Plant Health? Then you should enter the ELLS student competition to find solutions to the grand challenges in Plant Health!

You will be teamed up with two students at two other ELLS universities, follow some inspirational online lectures and reason around a solution to a grand challenge in Plant Health.

In May, you will shortly present your solutions and ideas online in front of a jury. The winning group gets to attend the 12th International Congress on Plant Pathology held in Lyon 20-25 of August, 2023. Conference fee, travel and accommodation will be covered. The exercise will be extra-curricular and does not give ECTS credits, but a diploma for participation.
