

Dean's Regulation No. 12/2018

The terms and conditions for the admission procedure to doctoral degree programmes taught in English in the academic year 2019/2020 at the Faculty of Environmental Sciences of the Czech University of Life Sciences Prague

In accordance with § 48 to 50 of Act No. 111/1998 Coll. on Higher Educational Institutions, and in accordance with the internal regulations of CULS Prague, the Dean of the Faculty of Environmental Sciences (FES) announces the following requirements for admission into doctoral degree programmes taught in English in the academic year 2019/2020.

The basic requirement for admission into the doctoral degree programme is successful completion of a master's degree programme. In accordance with § 49 of Act No. 111/1998 Coll. on Higher Educational Institutions, the Faculty of Environmental Sciences (FES) specifies the following additional requirements:

In order to enrol for the doctoral study programme taught in English, a candidate must submit an application between 1. 12. 2018 and 31. 3. 2019. The application should be submitted online at the following address: <http://is.czu.cz/prihlaska/>.

After submitting the application, the candidate will receive an e-mail with the application registration number, which will serve as the specific symbol when making bank payment.

The application fee

The application fee can be paid by bank transfer to the account number below, or paid online by payment card via the payment gateway on the application form. Payment should be made on the day of submitting the application; the deadline for submission is March 31st 2019. The fee is non-refundable at any stage of the admission procedure. If payment confirmation does not show up in the online system within 10 working days, the applicant should contact Ms. Petra Kadlecová (phdstudies@fzp.czu.cz).

A candidate who filled the application form and submitted it but did not pay by the deadline, will be asked to pay a fee for the admission procedure otherwise the application will be removed from the candidates register.

A candidate who did not fill the application form properly by the deadline but paid, will be asked to correct it, otherwise the application will be removed from the candidates register.

A candidate who paid but did not submit the application form (did not confirm consent to the processing of personal data), will be asked to submit it, otherwise the application will be removed from the candidates register.

Study programmes for full-time and combined study:

- Ecology, field of study: Ecology
- Environmental Science, field of study: *Applied and Landscape Ecology*¹
- Landscape Engineering, field of study: Environmental Modelling

¹ The field of study Applied and Landscape Ecology is in the process of transformation to a new study programme Applied and Landscape Ecology. In case of the successful accreditation before the completion of the admission procedure (enrolment in the study), applicants who have submitted an application for an existing Applied and Landscape Ecology field of study will be automatically transferred and subsequently admitted to the new Applied and Landscape Ecology study programme if the admission procedure is fulfilled. The terms and conditions of the admission procedure will remain the same. Successful applicants will be enrolled in the Applied and Landscape Ecology study programme in the academic year 2019/2020.

The requirements for admission into doctoral degree study programmes in English include the ability to communicate in English and the relevance of the selected study programme to the completed master's degree programme.

Entrance examination dates

The entrance examinations for doctoral degree programmes in English will take place on April 18th 2019 from 9:00 in meeting room Z239 (MCEV I building, Faculty of Environmental Sciences, CULS, Prague). Starting from 9:15, the examination will continue in the office of the chairman of the committee for the relevant field of study. Information about the exact place of the examination will be provided on the <https://is.czu.cz/prihlaska/> portal by April 4th 2019.

If the candidate cannot attend the entrance examination on the specified date, it is possible to conduct the exam electronically (provided that there is good reason to do so). Information about the date and the form of the online exam will be sent to the e-mail address indicated by the candidate in the application form. To set up a date, the candidate must send a request to phdstudies@fzp.czu.cz by April 4th 2019. For communication with the applicant during the whole admission procedure is strictly used the e-mail address registered in the application only.

Necessary documents

The following documents (in English or in Czech) will be necessary for the admission procedure:

- CV
- a list of grades received in the master's programme (diploma supplement / transcript of records).
- motivation letter (only in English)

The above-mentioned documents should be sent to the following e-mail address: phdstudies@fzp.czu.cz.

Entrance exam procedure and results

The candidates for doctoral study choose the topic of their doctoral theses listed by the supervisor for the given discipline and apply to them. The topics listed for the academic year 2019/2020 are published on the website of the Faculty of Environmental Sciences. A point system is used to evaluate the candidates. The evaluation is based on the candidate's interest in the selected field of study, backed by the approval of the potential supervisor and their superior (max. 10 points). Submitting a motivation letter in English will be necessary to assess the candidate's interest in the study programme and will also serve to evaluate the candidate's knowledge of English.

Another part of the admission procedure is an interview in English (max. 20 points), which can also be conducted online. Its purpose is to assess the candidate's knowledge of English, their ability to work independently (diploma thesis, publications), their awareness of the cost of planned research and funding possibilities, as well as their familiarity with the chosen field of study and the contents of the selected study programme at CULS.

A ranking list based on the number of points (0-30) received by the candidates will be published on the <https://is.czu.cz/prihlaska/> portal.

Admission procedure results and notification of admission

The candidate is admitted to the study programme if they have met all of the specified formal requirements and possess the specified professional qualifications. Formal requirements include, in particular, having attained the specified level of education and submitting the application correctly. A ranking list of candidates is compiled based on the number of points. A table with the minimum and maximum number of students admitted on the basis of this ranking list is given in Table 1.

Table 1: Maximum number of students admitted to the English doctoral degree programme in the academic year 2019/2020.

| FIELD OF STUDY | TYPE | MAX. NO. |
|--------------------------------------|-------------|-----------------|
| Applied and Landscape Ecology | full-time | 20 |
| | combined | 2 |
| Ecology | full-time | 15 |
| | combined | 2 |
| Environmental Modelling | full-time | 10 |
